Maki is a high school student. She went to New Zealand and stayed with the Jackson family last March. In the family, there were Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and their child, Emily. She was as old as Maki.

One night, Maki showed *some pieces of *colored paper to the Jackson family and asked them, "Do you know origami?" Emily answered, "Yes, but I've never tried." Maki said, "Look. This is a paper *crane. Cranes are famous birds in Japan." Emily said, "Wow, it's beautiful. I want to try." Maki helped Emily, but Emily couldn't *fold a paper crane well. She said, "It's very difficult." Maki said, "Don't *worry. You can do it." About ten minutes later, Emily finished folding her paper crane. She said, "Father, look at this!" Mr. Jackson said, "It looks a little different but it's very good."

Then Mrs. Jackson asked Maki, "Do you know our *national bird, *kiwis?" Maki said, "No. How do they look?" Mrs. Jackson answered, "They have long *bills but their *wings are very ①. So they can't *fly. Look at this picture." Mrs. Jackson showed it to Maki. Maki said, "Oh, it's very cute. I want to see one." Mr. Jackson said, "OK. Let's go to the bird park this Sunday!" ②It was exciting for Maki to see kiwis.

On Sunday afternoon, they went to the bird park (③) car. In the park there were many kinds of birds and other animals. Maki was *surprised because there weren't *cages and the *fences were very short. Maki took many pictures of them. Then they went to the kiwi house. Mr. Jackson said, "Maki, we can't take pictures here because kiwis are very *sensitive. They are usually ④(see) only at night because they are *nocturnal. Now they are in the dark room. Shall we go and see them?" Maki said, "OK. I understand." Then they went into the house. Maki said, "Oh, I can't see anything. Are there any kiwis?" Emily answered, "Wait, we can see them soon." Maki said, "Oh, I've found some kiwis. Wow, they have really long bills! And ⑤they are (big) and (beautiful) than I thought." Maki had a really good time in the park.

After the dinner in the park, it was already dark. They took Maki to the mountain near the park. Emily said, "I want to show you something. Come here." Maki was surprised and said, "Oh, we can see a beautiful *night view of your town. And look at the *sky! There are many stars. Thank you very much. I had a wonderful time today."

After coming back to Japan, Maki got a letter from Emily. In the letter she said, "Thank you for sending me an origami book. Now I can ⑥." Maki found a beautiful paper crane with the letter.
