My mother has a friend in America. Her name is Lily. Last summer, my mother and I went to America to see her. Lily has two children, Bob and Mike.

They like to play sports very much. Bob likes basketball, and he's on the basketball team. Mike likes rugby, and Lily likes soccer very much. One day, I said, "I'm in the judo club at school." Bob said to me, "Judo is a famous sport in the world. We're very interested in it. Can you teach us judo, Shinji?"

The next day, I taught judo to Bob and Mike. It was not easy to teach judo because I could not speak English well. But they tried to understand me. They practiced hard and looked excited.

I was very happy because we could become good friends through judo.
