7. 次の英文は、高志(Takashi)が、自分の関心のあるテーマについて、インターネットで調べてグラフ(graph)と表(table)を作り、英語の授業の時間に発表したときのものです。これを読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

I've been interested in the environment since we studied about global warming. Last week, when I was looking for some information about the environment on the Internet, I found very interesting facts about forests. Today I'm going to talk about them.

First, look at the graph. This graph shows the forest area percentages of Japan and four other countries. You can see that a high percentage of the land in Japan is forest area. Also, aren't you surprised to see that the forest area percentages of the other countries are lower? For example, look at the forest area percentage of (①). I thought that it would be over 50%, but the forest area percentage of (①) is about a half of the forest area percentage of Japan.

Now look at the table. This table shows ten prefectures with the highest forest area percentages in Japan. You can see that only two prefectures have forest area percentages that are (② h) than 80%. Gifu is one of them.

I like Gifu very much because Gifu is rich in nature. So, I hope that I can do something good for the environment in the future to take care of the forests in Gifu.

Table

Kochi	84.3%
Gifu	81.5%
Shimane	78.4%
Nagano	78.1%
Yamanashi	78.0%
Nara	77.1%
Wakayama	76.9%
Iwate	76.9%
Miyazaki	76.2%
Tokushima	75.3%

イ The table shows ten countries with the highest forest area percentages in the world.

ウ Takashi was surprised to find the forest area percentage of Japan is lower than 50%.

エ Takashi wants to help the environment by taking care of the forests in Gifu.

8. 次の英文は、ロンドンに留学中である高校生の垂矢(Aya)が、日本の高校で英語を習ったスミス先生(Mr. Smith)に書いた手紙です。これを読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

October 6

Dear Mr. Smith,

How are you? I left Japan in September and one month has already passed. My *host family is very nice. They speak to me slowly and *try to understand me. At school, I still 5 can't understand classes very well. But my teachers always help me. I enjoy studying and playing sports with my friends. So I am OK at home and at school. But in the city, I often have some trouble with English.

Last week, I went to a *bookstore near my house. When I bought a book, the clerk spoke to me. He said a few words very fast, and I could not understand him. I said to him, "Pardon?"
10 He said the *same words again and showed me a bag. But I still could not *catch each word.
① So I said nothing and only *smiled. After I got home, I told my host mother about this. *According to her, clerks usually say "Do you need a bag?" when we buy things. But they sometimes say "Need a bag?" in a *casual way. Then, I learned how to practice English from her. She said, "When you hear words you cannot catch, you should *ask the person
15 to write the words in your notebook. Then, you can read the words in the notebook *aloud many times. By doing this, you will *get used to saying the words and listening to them." I tried her idea the next day. She was right. So I understand that ②.

Today, I went to a store in the city. When I was walking on the street, a foreign person asked me, "Where is the station?" It was difficult for me to tell him the way, but I did so 20 with a map I had and with *gestures. I smiled, and was happy to have communication with him. In fact, ③ I was very surprised when he asked me the way. I didn't think people asked foreign people like me the way in London. But it is *natural for foreign people to have communication in English because many people from different countries live here together.

I still have some trouble with language in London. But it is necessary and interesting to 25 have communication in my life. It is important to use words I've learned and to use other ways like gestures. These two things will make communication better.

I will write a letter to you again. I hope you enjoy life in Japan.

Best wishes,

Aya

- ア Aya was glad because she was able to buy a book she liked.
イ Aya was excited because she wanted to talk with the clerk.
ウ Aya wasn't sad because she was able to get the bag she wanted.
エ Aya wasn't happy because she could not catch the clerk's words.

- ア it is very difficult for me to remember the person who said the words
イ it is very difficult for me to read the words I wrote in my notebook
ウ it is very useful for me to make a notebook with the words I can't catch
エ it is very useful for me to ask people to read the words in my notebook many times

- [illegible]

- November 5

In my classes, I talked about the important things in your letter. If you use words you've learned and use other ways like gestures, communication (③). Many students were impressed because you learned a lot.

Best wishes,

Smith
